When it comes to training, every hour out of the office counts. That's why at Blackmetric, our approach to training is different. We'll work closely with you and create a tailored training programme to meet your team's specific needs and learning objectives. You can mix and match from our pre-designed modules, or we can create something unique especially for you.

Our courses are designed to be practical and provide plenty of hands-on exercises to help you get up to speed quickly. Not only this, our courses are aligned with IIBA's Business Analysis Body of Knowledge (BABOK), making them a perfect choice for teams pursuing IIBA CBAP or CCBA certification.

So, if you're looking for a different approach to training, call us today.
